

Angelina Heart
Twin Flame Newsletter
November 11/20/12

Twin Flame Thanks-Giving

Can you feel it? Can you feel the magnified field of gratitude in your Twin Flame heart? Our unseen assistants are working overtime, amplifying every bit of love and forgiveness, every bit of gratitude that emanates from within your heart.

I woke with an old children's song from Sunday School repeating over and over in my head, and realized how powerful the message was and how it had been imprinted in my heart and mind before I was three years old. Even then, the true nature of love was revealed.

Love is giving, always. It is self-generated, self-sustained, and overflowing from your Twin Flame heart – the nucleus of all creation in your universe. And because it is ceaselessly abundant, it MUST give itself away. Take this precious time to lavish the one thing that is Real upon everything and everyone that enters your circle of consciousness. Bathe everything in it, including yourself and let the gratitude for this love wash through every atom of your being constantly. God is always more. Always giving.

Look up to the sun today. It shines upon everything, not just some things that it deems worthy of its precious light. Let your light so shine that the truth is revealed in every person, condition and thing.

I found a you-tube rendition of my little Sunday School song – a simple melody called "Give Said the Little Stream" that you can easily memorize. Sing it when you rise, sing it when you're sad, sing it when you're happy, sing it before you go to sleep. Gratitude and giving – they are the open doors to every good thing you desire.

<http://youtu.be/l5rzlkaJKJg>

Happy Thanks-Giving, my beloved friends.

Angelina Heart

PS – I would love to share with you some of the most transformational art I've ever seen from an artist known as Yeshuella. www.celestialgateways.com.

Her work is inspired from higher realms and I think you will be deeply touched by the images as they work their magic on you. There are messages that are downloaded through the eyes that bypass logic and even defy words to describe the effect they have upon you. Such is this master's gift to the world. Give yourself a treat and spend a little time in her online gallery.